

Industrial Engineer/Product Designer Internship

FLEXIBLE STARTING DATES

Industrial Engineer/Product Designer Internship

ABOUT VAVERSA

VaVersa is in a mission to improve the way food is grown and consumed. Started in 2017, we developed a smart indoor garden subscription that allows growing food next to where it is consumed or purchased. The combination of our technology and service gives access to ultra-fresh, high quality produce while reducing the environmental impact of our food. We currently work with professional kitchens mostly and have a lot of exciting projects and opportunities upcoming.

VaVersa is a small but ambitious growing team, composed of a multi-disciplinary international team. Our HQ is in Amsterdam.

ABOUT THE ROLE

We are looking for a designer/production intern to help our garden assembly and development operations. As we are deploying our gardens in exciting professional kitchens (such as UBER and Van Der Valk Hotels), you will help us take our manufacturing and logistics to the next level. This includes a broad set of activities ranging from assembling to improving processes and redesigning parts. As part of the internship, you will be working closely with the founders and will have the opportunity experience first-hand the dynamics of a purpose driven start-up.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Supporting the assembly and production of indoor gardens team.
- Installation at clients.
- Thinking along in coming up with creative solutions for current challenges as part of the production process.
- Supporting the development team with the next designs and future plans.

REQUIREMENTS

- You are studying industrial engineering, product designer or related studies.
- You want to be part of an ambitious and mission driven team.
- You are excited by new challenges and you are willing to learn.
- You are not afraid of making decisions and taking responsibility.
- You speak and write fluent English, Dutch is a plus.
- Previous experience in 3D modelling (Fusion 360) is a big plus.

WE OFFER

- The opportunity to work in an exciting industry that allows you to contribute to make a positive impact.
- The opportunity to grow and learn with us and make choices about your development path.
- The ability to work closely with management and have an influence in decision making.
- A nice working environment with international colleagues.
- Free (and fresh) lunch and an unlimited supply of herbs and produce to take home.
- An internship remuneration.

Interested? Feel free to reach out if you feel this could be you!

Email: info@vaversa.com or olivier@vaversa.com

Phone: +31 6 49171479